Dr. JOE SHOW: 10 steps to changing your life for the better in 2016.

1. Give Up Soda
2. Eat 2 meals a day, within an eight hour window.
3. Get 8 hours of sleep each night.
4. Eat more healthy fats and fiber.
5. Eat fermented vegetables.
6. Sit less and walk more, work on your flexibility.
7. Have your vitamin D level tested.
8. Eat nutrient-dense protein (quality not quantity).
9. Meditate for 5 to 10 minutes a day.
10. Help others and be active in your community.

DR. JOE SHOW: Environmental toxins could be making you fat. Without even realizing it, we are constantly exposed to toxins that have potential to disrupt our hormones and cause weight gain. Several toxins in our environment cause estrogenic activity and lower testosterone, which result in obesity and fertility concerns. The phthalates, dioxins, and bisphenois found in plastics are especially troublesome.

Your thyroid is also particularly sensitive to chlorine, fluoride, mercury, pesticides, and other toxins. These types of chemicals have been shown to disrupt communication between the hypothalamus, pituitary, and thyroid – the pathway that closely controls our metabolic rate. When researchers looked at the effects of synthetic chemicals such as DDT, phenol derivatives, phthalates and polyhalogenated hydrocarbons, on the thyroid, they noticed thyroid suppression.

It's clear: toxins inhibit your thyroid, the master of your metabolic rate, which in turn leads to weight gain. Toxins can lower an individual's body temperature and resting metabolic rate by as much as 7 percent. A direct link between chemicals call phthalates and thyroid hormone levels was confirmed by the University of Michigan. Higher concentrations of urinary phthalate metabolites and BPA were associated with greater impacts on serum thyroid measures. Here's the kicker: as urinary metabolite concentrations increased, serum levels of certain thyroid hormone levels decreased. So if you are feeling fat, frumpy, and forgetful from a sluggish thyroid, the culprit may be lurking closely in your kitchen.

DR. JOE SHOW: How to beat the health care system. Americans spend twice as much on health care per capita than any other country in the world; in fact, according to series of studies, the US spends more on health care than the next 10 biggest spenders combined: Japan, Germany, France, China, the U.K., Italy, Canada, Brazil, Spain, and Australia. Other astounding statistics include: The US spends more than 17 percent of our gross domestic product (GDP) on healthcare. If the US health care system was a country, it would be the 6th largest economy on the entire planet. While the US makes up only five percent of the world's population, Americans consume over 50 percent of all the world's pharmaceutical drugs. Overall, Americans also pay 50 percent more than other countries for identical drugs, as a result of laws and regulations preventing the US government from reining in drug prices like other nations do. Despite all of this spending and pill-popping, the US ranks dead last in terms of quality of care among industrialized countries, and Americans are far sicker and live shorter lives than people in other nations. Clearly we have taken a wrong turn down the road somewhere.

4/24/16 7am 50Min.

DR. JOE SHOW: Beating sugar addiction. Is sugar toxic? It is when you consider the levels the average American swallows each year – a whopping 130 pounds of added sugars ingested annually.

5/1/16 7AM 50Min.

DR. JOE SHOW: Low carb diets for vegans. A true Paleo diet wasn't necessarily low in carbohydrates. Best estimates are that pre-agricultural people got about 35 to 50 percent of their calories from carbohydrates. Their diets were about 30% protein and about 20 – 35% fat, although actual intakes probably varied a lot over different regions. The carbohydrates would have come mostly from vegetables, tubers, and fruits with only small amounts of grains and maybe even smaller amounts of wild beans.

5/8/16 7AM 50MINS

DR. JOE SHOW: Some reasons why your pain won't go away.

1. Inflammation, part of the normal repair process, may have gone awry.
2. Allergies can make your pain worse.
3. Your diet can cause inflammation.
4. Your fatigue may be a symptom. Don't ignore it.
5. A migraine problem isn't just in your head – it's in your nervous system.
6. Overlapping problems can come from the same source.
7. The underlying root cause may still need to be identified.

5/15/16 7AM 50MINS

DR. JOE SHOW: Hormonal imbalances that drive weight gain. Part 1. Our bodies are hard-wired to send us signals when something isn't right, but often we're too busy to hear them begging for attention. Many of us experience signs and symptoms of hormonal imbalance every day. Recognizing and treating the subtle signs of hormonal imbalance is essential, yet so many of us have been out of balance for so many years that we don't know how to recognize what "balance" is anymore. No matter how an imbalance manifests on the outside, the internal reality remains the same – any and all hormonal imbalance leads to difficulty losing weight.

5/22/16 6AM 10MINS

BUSINESS IN THE BLACK: Tricia Seaman, an Oncology Nurse and author of "God Gave Me You" talks about her relationship with a young cancer patient, who on the same day her diagnosis became terminal she asked Tricia if she would adopt her then 6 year old son. The Seaman family, with 4 children already, took the woman in until her death and in the meantime forged a wonderful relationship with her son and later adopted him.

5/22/16 7AM 50MINS

DR. JOE SHOW: Hormonal imbalances that drive weight gain. Part 2. Under situations of chronic stress – whether the stress is physical, emotional, mental, environmental, real, or imagined – our bodies release high amounts of the hormone cortisol. If you suffer from a mood disorder such as anxiety, depression, post-traumatic stress disorder, or exhaustion, or if you have a digestive issue such as irritable bowel syndrome, you can bet your body is cranking up your cortisol.

5/29/16 7AM 50MINS

DR. JOE SHOW: Don't ignore these symptoms. In our over-stimulating world, we've become very good at tuning things out, like background conversations on the train, side bar advertisements online, and TV commercials. Unfortunately, this seems to have carried over into our health lives and a concerning number of people are ignoring messages from their body, even potential cancer symptoms.

DR. JOE SHOW: Food intolerance can make you gain weight. Here’s a question for you: If you wanted to be your leanest, fittest self and follow the healthiest diet in the world, what would you eat? You’re probably thinking egg-white veggie omelets, maybe some Greek-style nonfat yogurt, low-calorie whey protein shakes, and perhaps a soy-based veggie burger on a whole-grain bun. Here’s the real bummer: These so-called healthy foods could be holding your health and your weight hostage. Sadly, you might be eating these and other foods regularly. You probably don’t even like some of them and only choose them because you are “supposed to.” How disappointing to discover you’re doing everything “right” yet nothing is working! The scale won’t budge, your pants won’t zip, and you frequently feel tired, moody and achy. Here’s the real clincher: When you ditch those so-called healthy foods that may be causing intolerance, you can lose up to seven pounds in seven days.

6/12/16 7AM 50Mins

DR. JOE SHOW: Turn back the clock. It is little wonder that anti-aging has become a massive, lucrative business as expensive creams, “miracle supplements,” and other unsubstantiated products that supposedly vanish wrinkles or otherwise turn back the clock compete for our dollars. True beauty comes from within, and no state-of-the-art skin cream can reverse the aging process a bad diet and lifestyle choices can create. That’s actually good news, because no matter where you are now, you can apply lifestyle changes to increase longevity and look amazing at any age.

6/19/16 7AM 50Mins

DR. JOE SHOW: Signs that you’re way too stressed out. Whether it’s a financial meltdown, the stress of all of the baking, shopping, and wrapping associated with the holidays, or just juggling everyday tasks while trying to get dinner on the table by 6, stress is seemingly unavoidable these days. But did you know that all of this excess anxiety could actually be wrecking your good hair days, too? Take a few moments to check in with your body to make sure you’re not sacrificing your health and mental well-being. Physical symptoms of stress, such as dry heaving, can manifest themselves in weird ways when the affairs of life get too overwhelming. And sometimes, you may not even realize that stress is the cause.

6/26/16 7AM 50Mins

DR. JOE SHOW: Skin care secrets. The multi-billion dollar skin care industry, with the help of the mainstream medical establishment and the media, has everyone convinced that the sun is Enemy Number One when it comes to skin health. Here’s what you won’t hear: sunlight’s good for your skin and critical to your overall health and well-being. Get enough of it, and you’ll actually reduce your risk for a wide range of cancers.

PERSPECTIVES: Richard Barron, Director Fulton County Board of Elections and Mitchell Reiner, Capital Investment
On Georgia Primary Election Day, voters selected candidates from Congress to county commission and a number of judges. Fulton Elections Director Richard Barron discusses efforts the county made to make sure voters are aware of changes in precinct locations and times and locations for early voting. Fulton had problems on Presidential Primary Day in March when many voters did not know of precinct changes because change cards never arrived in the mail. As a result, the county now sends a letter to the head of household to make sure voters know. Mitchell Reiner, of Capital Investment Advisors in Atlanta is the UGA Terry College of Business Young Alumni Award honoree. This award recognizes alumni who are under 35 years of age, have demonstrated achievement, and show a promising future in business. Emeritus members of the Terry College Alumni Board accept nominations for these awards and select the recipients each year. Mitch is active in the community as well as at UGA. He is currently serving as treasurer of the executive committee for WonderRoot, an arts-based community organization in Atlanta. He was also a member of the 2015 class of LEAD Atlanta, a leadership training program for the next generation of community leaders. Mitch was chosen as an originating member of the Atlanta Hub of the Global Shapers organization, which was established by the World Economic Forum to engage the next generation of leaders who will shape the global agenda.

PERSPECTIVES: Actor Jason George, Grey's Anatomy and Jane Lumbar, Executive Director, Georgia SPCA
The Grey's Anatomy star works to raise awareness of multi-racial families through a non-profit group in California. He sponsored a contest to bring a winner to the set of the show as part of the campaign. Multiracial Americans of Southern California (MASC) is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization that has been in existence for more than 25 years to celebrate multiracial identity in a racially inclusive world and to advocate for and foster multiracial community and identity. With this vision and mission in mind, MASC creates activities and designs programs to serve the community and increase awareness and understanding amongst the public about multiracial/multiethnic issues. Jane Lunbatis is Executive Director of the Georgia SPCA and discusses the organization's upcoming gala for this no-kill animal shelter. The Georgia SPCA opened its doors in March 2007. We are a private non-profit 501(c)3 organization formed and operated for the purpose of reducing pet overpopulation by rescuing and finding homes for homeless dogs and cats and educating the public about responsible pet ownership. Since opening, the group has saved over 9,000 dogs and cats and placed them in loving homes. All animals are fully vetted, spayed or neutered, up-to-date on age-appropriate vaccinations, disease tested and placed on appropriate preventatives, dewormed and microchipped.
