

Policy Concerning Indecent Programming On Commercial Leased Access Channels

Pursuant to FCC Rule 76.1707, Charter Communications, Inc. and its operating subsidiaries (collectively referred to as "Charter Communications"), provides this information regarding indecent programming on commercial leased access channels.

As authorized by federal law, it is the policy of this cable system to refuse carriage of indecent programming on commercial leased access channels. Consequently, leased access users must not transmit, or submit for transmission, any such programming on any full-time or part-time leased access channel on this cable system.

We do not intend to routinely pre-screen leased access programming for indecency. Rather, we will rely on the leased access channel user's warranty set forth in the Channel Lease Agreement that the leased access channel user will not transmit, or submit for transmission, any indecent programming material. However, we reserve the right to pre-screen leased access programming from time to time, at our discretion. If, in pre-screening leased access programming or through notification from subscribers, officials, community residents or otherwise, we discover that the leased access programming contains indecent material, we will prohibit the transmission of that leased access programming and take other appropriate action, as determined in our sole discretion. Any leased access user who transmits indecent programming, or submits such programming for transmission over this cable system, in violation of this policy and/or in breach of the warranties made in its Channel Lease Agreement will subject the Channel Lease Agreement to immediate suspension or termination.

Indecent material is defined by the Communications Act as "programming that the cable operator reasonably believes describes or depicts sexual or excretory activities or organs in a patently offensive manner as measured by contemporary community standards." See 47 U.S.C. § 532(h). In evaluating whether material is indecent, we will apply a good faith judgment under this standard, and may look to such explanations published by the FCC or other authority that may come to our attention.

Leased access users are required to certify in writing that they have received, read, and understand Charter's indecency policy and that their programming does not contain any indecent material.

Charter reserves the right to prohibit live programming and to revise this policy at any time for any reason including, but not limited to, compliance with applicable law.
